Vice-President Coolidge Pays City Visit

STOPS HERE ENROUTE TO DES MOINES

Primary Results Not Blow to Administration, He Claims.

Calvin C. Coolidge, vice president of the United States, arrived in Rock Island unheralded at 2:10 o'clock this afternoon over the Rock Island Lines from Chicago, and found time while the engines were being changed to allow a snapshot to be taken of him by The Argus cameraman and to make a brief comment on the Pennsylvania and Indiana elections to an Argus reporter.

Few down at the station realized that the gentleman standing in front of a Pullman chatting with The Argus representative was "Cal" Coolidge, President Harding's understudy. Only the ordinary group of travelers, station attendants and railroad men was assembled.

While the vice president was being "snapped" by the camera man he was asked how the administration viewed the victory achieved by Pinchot in Pennsylvania and Beveridge in Indiana.

"The situation from the administration's viewpoint," said Mr. Coolidge, "is fully covered in an article appearing in a Chicago morning newspaper, written by Arthur Sears Henning, which is apparently inspired by Mr. Harding."

Referring to the article once more he said that those who are interpreting the results of the Indiana and Pennsylvania primaries as a Republican repudiation of the Harding administration, are not only mistaken but are endeavoring to misrepresent the situation.

"The contest in those two states," continued the vice president, "was a contest between parties within the Republican party, and the candidates of both groups were chosen on a platform which assured the Harding administration hearty and unequivocal support. That is really about all that I have to say about it."

Mr. Coolidge is on his way to Des Moines, where he is scheduled to deliver an address on "Education" before the national assembly of the Presbyterian church tomorrow evening.

When asked if he was a delegate to the assembly from a Presbyterian church in Massachusetts, his home state, he replied, "That can hardly be the case, because a good long time ago, the people of Massachusetts made up their minds that most of them would be Congregationalists."

Can Ask Questions, Too.

Taking the part of an interrogator, Mr. Coolidge asked about the business conditions prevailing in this section of the country, and wanted to know if the Mississippi river had gone on a rampage in Rock Island and caused a destructive flood.

For a parting word, he said, harking back to the Pinchot and Beveridge nominations, that he understood President Harding regarded both nominees as his cordial supporters.

THUG ATTEMPTS TO ROB 'HAMLET'; SWORD ROUTS HIM

Tulsa, Okla., May 20.—Hamlet, in the person of Oscar Osborne, a high school boy, gave battle to a modern highwayman last night. Garbed in the raiment of the Danish prince, whose character he had portrayed in a school entertainment, Osborne was going home when set upon by a robber. The youth drew his long sword and attacked the highwayman, who, unaccustomed to facing such strange weapons, turned and ran. He escaped and Osborne rearranged his plumed hat and flowing robes and continued his journey homeward.

NATIONAL AUTO CLUBS IN SPLIT; FORM NEW ONE

Six States, Including Illinois, Are Insurgents.

St. Louis, Mo., May 20.—Formation of a new national automobile association was under way here today by state automobile clubs of Illinois, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana and Texas, following the split in the annual convention of the American Automobile association last night over a parliamentary technicality, when the organization withdrew from the national body.

Disruption of the association resulted from a dispute between the Ohio and Chicago clubs, which challenged the seating of each other's delegates.

The Chicago Motor club and the Missouri Automobile club, with other state bodies remained in the American Automobile association and continued in session today.

Charles M. Hays, president of the Chicago Motor club, declared the American Automobile association would continue to function.

Blame Chicago Club.

Fred Calley of Cleveland was named temporary chairman, and an organization committee was appointed by the state organization which left the convention.

Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., delegates also left the convention.

Harry K. Stormont, of the Indiana delegation, declared it was repeatedly charged on the floor of the convention that the Chicago Motor club was invading other state's territory in solicitation of membership for purposes which he claimed were commercial. He said this was one of the reasons of the split.

ARREST MEN WITH $32,000 IN U.S. SEALS

Prohibition Agent and Chief Cox Make Huge Haul.

Two negroes arrested last night on a Rock Island Lines train at Rock Island, on a tip from Chicago, had in their possession 10 gallons of pure grain alcohol and $32,000 worth of government "bottled in bond" stamps, as well as many front and back bottle labels from several big distilleries.

The arrest, which was made by Joseph Prendergast, district prohibition agent, Chief Tom Cox and Detective Charles Ginnane of the Rock Island police force, is the largest haul of the kind made here in months, according to Thomas P. Sinner, United States commissioner.

The men arrested were:

William Lofton, alias William Lofton Brown, colored, Chicago.

Albert Jordan, alias A. C. Wilson, colored, Chicago.

The whole outfit they carried was contained in two large brown leather satchels. An inventory of it showed, besides the grips:

Five thousand government seals or stamps to seal bottle corks, marked "bottled in bond", worth $32,000 in tax, or $640 apiece.

Ten gallons of 188 proof pure grain alcohol, worth $200, in two tin 5-gallon containers.

Packets of large front labels and distillery labels marked "for medicinal purposes only" to be used on backs of bottles, purporting to be labels for the products of the Waterfall & Frazier, Sunnybrook and Chapin & Gore distilleries, for "Sunnybrook", "W. & F." and "Old Jim Gore" whiskeys. There were several hundred of each of these labels.

Under $5,000 Bonds.

Lofton and Jordan were given a preliminary hearing before Commissioner Sinner this morning and were each put under a $5,000 bond. The counts in the charge against them are:

Transporting alcohol, and having it in their possession.

Having government tax labels in their possession.

Forging government tax labels or seals.

The most serious of the charges is that of having the labels in their possession, Chief Tom Cox said this morning. He agreed with Mr. Prendergast that the seals had been printed from forged or stolen plates or had come from "inside" confederates. It is considered most probable that they were produced by forgery.

Would Make Liquor.

Rock Island would have been flooded next week with pint bottles of "Sunnybrook" and "Old Jim Gore" moonshine whiskey at bargain prices had the two negroes gone undetected, the prohibition men believe. Bottles are easily obtained, as well as coloring and flavoring extracts which would have made "good" whiskey out of 10 gallons of alcohol. To manufacture "genuine" liquor in this way was evidently the intention of Lofton and Jordan.

The two prisoners were taken to Peoria this afternoon, to be held to the federal court there on the three-count charge.

VALENTINO IS UNDER ARREST

Film Actor Is Taken in Los Angeles on Bigamy Charges; Surrenders to District Attorney.

Los Angeles, Calif., May 20.—Rodolph Valentino, motion picture actor, was arrested today on a charge of bigamy. He surrendered to the district attorney's office, accompanied by counsel and arrangements were made for his release on bail.

The charge of bigamy was placed against Valentino at the district attorney's office with the issuance of a felony complaint growing out of last Saturday in Mexico, Mexico, to Winifred Hudnut, also known as Nadia Rambova, while he was legally married to Jean Acker, a movie actress.

BANKS SHOW DECREASE.

New York, May 20.—The actual condition of the clearing house and trust companies for the week shows that they hold $5,521,450 in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $31,384,030 from last week.

Shotgun Puts End to Life of 'Handsome Monte' Michaels, American Bad Man of Mexico

BY J. M. STEIN, Consolidated Press Correspondent. (Copyright, 1922, by The Argus.) Brownsville, Tex., May 20.—"Handsome Monte" Michaels, probably the most picturesque and dangerous of the American bad men of Mexico, was shot by the shotgun route.

This will be good news to the American and British oil interests from whose treasury Michaels has taken heavy toll for years. Michaels fell victim to a sawed-off weapon in the hands of Ed Watts, former townpuncher and now rancher at Evano, Mexico.

Details of the killing reached here today. They show that Michaels, a "two gun" man and dead shot, picked the wrong man to hold up. The fact that he had a heavy price on his head as a result of his holdup of the payroll of the International Petroleum company last fall, when he killed seven men, has not interfered with his traveling, as nearly everyone there was afraid of him.

Head Is Blown Off.

Michaels, the story that reached here today said, headed a party of bandits and visited the Watts ranch, where he had learned a large sum of money was being guarded. His plans leaked out and Watts was warned. When the bandits arrived at the house at midnight a few nights ago they demanded admission. Watts refused. Then Michaels, ordering his men to keep him covered, undertook to chop down the door. He smashed in a panel and was about to trip the latch when Watts laid both barrels of his shotgun on Michaels. The heavy charge literally tore the head of the bandit from his shoulders. His companions fled, and when the fire was returned they fled.

"Signs" on Oil Site.

The death of Michaels removes a dangerous menace from the Tampico, Tampico and Vera Cruz fields. A man of huge physique, still only 32 years of age, he drifted to the oil fields as a drifter twelve years ago following a killing in Oklahoma which got him into trouble. He first attracted attention by squatting on a holding of the Panepac Petroleum company near Tampico, claiming the title was defective. Courts, military and gunmen failed to budge him. Some he chased off with his guns. Others he bought off. Still others he ignored. He commanded a drilling outfit, secured boilers and derricks at neighboring camps and finally brought in a 60,000 barrel oil well. The companies, backing up the Panepac outfit, refused to buy at any price.

He had no money to build a pipeline. Finally when he managed to find a buyer the winning "salt" turned bandit.

Embittered by his experience he turned bandit, directing his operations against the oil companies. Payroll after payroll was taken by Michaels and the band of hard-boiled gunmen who quickly rallied to his leadership. His work became so bold that the American Chamber of Commerce at Tampico a short time ago imported men to put him out of business. They managed to arrest several of his followers, who confessed, and a posse was organized to run him down. His camp in the mountains was discovered and raided. An arsenal was found, also the latest improved portable sets with which Michaels had been able to tap telephone wires, listen in and secure information regarding payroll shipments and the like.

Lieutenant Is Killed.

Jose Tomas, one of his chief lieutenants, was killed and finally Michaels was compelled to seek cover. It was under these conditions that he planned the raid which ended in his being killed. That President Obregon recently threatened to apply article 23 to every American in the Mexican oil fields who was not working. Wait, who shot Michaels, is described as a mild-mannered, though an expert shot, never used a weapon except under necessity. He is more than fifty years old. He told the men who went to the ranch to identify Michaels' body that he had fortified himself behind a mattress, when he heard the bandits coming.

LONDON PLANS WELCOME FOR LLOYD GEORGE

Greeting to Returned Premier Will Be Memorable.

London, May 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—There is every prospect that the public welcome organized for Prime Minister Lloyd George, on his arrival from Genoa tonight will be memorable. It will be, however, apparently a partisan and not a national welcome, for it is not a case of a universally popular statesman returning laden with the achievements which the whole nation was yearning to see garnered from the economic conference.

The days of solid support for Lloyd George vanished soon after the war and he has long since reverted to the position of a political leader.

Both Praised and "Panned."

Today's editorials on the break-up of the conference are significant as bearing on the prime minister's position. On one hand he is adversely criticized for his farewell address at Genoa, and for the greater part of his public conduct there, and on the other hand he is praised for his courage and resourcefulness in the face of immense difficulties and for what his admirers term his considerable achievements, even though they fell short of his aims.

As for the conference itself, even its strongest apologists do not claim that it has been a success, but look to the coming meeting at The Hague for a sequel of real value. Its enemies have hardly a single word for it, especially those who from the first, opposed admission of the soviet delegates to the council table. These pronounce it a dismal failure and welcome its end.

Former Sheriff and Timothy Lotsey Are Convicted in Second Trial of $95,000 Payroll Theft.

Taylorville, Ill., May 20.—Fifteen minutes after a jury had retired in the second trial of the $95,000 Kincaid payroll robbery case in Christian county circuit court here last night, a verdict was returned finding Jerome Lockhard and Timothy Lotsey both guilty. A plea for a new trial was entered.

PREDICT JURY TO GET SMALL CASE JUNE 10

Townfolk Pass Up Trial for Legion Celebration.

Waukegan, Ill., May 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Attorneys engaged in the conspiracy trial of Governor Len Small hope to see it ended within the next three weeks. On both sides predictions on the duration of the trial are made with "qualifications," but expressed opinions have been sufficient to indicate that the lawyers expect the case to go to the jury by June 10.

James H. Wilkerson, assistant attorney general, and Edward P. Freese, assistant state attorney at Free-samoon county, have given voice to the hope that all the testimony can be completed before that time, while Charles C. LeFors, chief of the defense counsel, forecasts the ending of the trial between next Friday night and July 4.

Speculation over the length of the trial is increasing, and while the 12 men on the jury are, of course, held incommunicado, there is no one but believes they too are wondering how long they must be shut up with the case.

The prosecution has exhausted the week, the fourth since the selection of the jury began, with examination of nearly a dozen of the more than 200 witnesses on its list.

Governor Small went into seclusion over the week-end again. Judge Claire C. Edwards, presiding jurist, was chairman of ceremonies at the laying of the cornerstone of Lake county's Victory Memorial hospital today.

It was a gala day for Waukegan, with American Legion posts from all parts of the country participating. The ceremonies began with a big street parade. Speakers on the program included Colonel Milton Foreman, former state commander of the American Legion; William R. McCauley, present commander of the department of Illinois, and Colonel Gilman, commander of the Great Lakes Naval Training station. The corporation was laid amid martial airs from the Great Lakes naval band.

Jurors in the Small case started physical classes at the Y. M. C. A. under the direction of Frank E. Pierson, physical director. The workouts for the jury were arranged through an agreement between Judge Edwards and counsel for both sides in the case.

CHILE-PERU ROW TAXES YANK BRAIN

Uncle Sam Finds South American Mediation Hard Job.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright, 1922, by The Argus.) Washington, D. C., May 20.—America's resourcefulness as a mediator is being taxed to the utmost in the unprecedented situation which has led Chile and Peru to endeavor to settle their dispute of more than thirty years' standing.

Theoretically Chile and Peru are negotiating directly, the United States is merely offering its "atmosphere and good will," but this is merely the preliminary. Every body knows and has known throughout the public opinion of Chile and Peru respectively has been fanned into such intensity of feeling over the dispute that a direct settlement unassisted by the friendly advice of outside powers is improbable. The deadlock is still the same as it was. Chile insists that the treaty of Ancon is unfulfilled. Peru declares a referendum should have been taken in 1894 to determine the ownership of the provinces of Tacna and Arica and since it wasn't taken, the whole treaty is invalid. And so the controversy goes. There is no new angle, no new suggestion of equitable arrangement coming from the one which would be approved by the other.

The two powers are tired of the constant controversy and want a settlement. They have reached the stage where they would welcome some compromise from the outside offered in such a way that neither side can afford to reject. That's where America's opportunity arises. Japan and China haggled for three years over the Shantung question. They started direct negotiations again and again, but never got anywhere. Finally the United States and Great Britain conceived the idea of bringing the parties together in Washington ostensibly for direct settlement but in reality for mediation. The dispute was settled satisfactorily.

Will Test U. S. Fairness.

The same situation has developed between Chile and Peru. The delegates are already trying direct negotiations, but they are reaching the deadlock of past conferences. Then America will step in either with a concrete plan or a proposal for arbitration which if accepted would mean that both sides were committed in advance to accept the award of an arbitration tribunal. American good faith, American fairness and judicial ability will be tested in the Chile-Peru conference. There is prestige and good favor waiting the United States if it settles the conflict satisfactorily to both sides. There is ill-will awaiting if America makes a misstep.

WOMAN IS SLAIN BY INSANE MAN; THROAT IS CUT

Mother, a Paralytic, Watches Son Slay Aunt.

Chicago, May 20.—While his mother, a paralytic, sat in an adjoining room, unable to interfere, Thomas Mahaney, 43 years old, released from the state asylum for the insane at Dunning 10 months ago, killed his aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Williamson, 56 years old, 7930 Maryland avenue, by cutting her throat, while visiting her home yesterday afternoon.

Mahaney fled and his mother, Mrs. Mary Mahaney, was left alone with the body until the murdered woman's husband and son returned from work.

Police when informed of the slaying, hurried to 414 North Harding avenue, where Mahaney had been living at the home of his sister, expecting that he had gone back there after the crime.

Jugular Vein Severed.

When Charles A. Williamson, the dead woman's husband, and Leslie Williamson, their son, returned home at 6:45 o'clock they found her body lying in a small hallway off the bathroom of the bungalow.

Her throat had been cut and the jugular vein severed. Near her lay a razor belonging to her husband.

Mrs. Mahaney, whose paralysis has affected her speech, was in the living room of the house, unable to tell the father and the son anything concerning the murder.

The Burnside and the Grand Crossing police were notified by neighbors and a search for Mahaney was begun.

Quarrel About Money.

The police established that the murder was committed some time after 2 o'clock, as Mahaney was seen to enter the bungalow at that hour.

The rug in the hallway had been kicked aside and scratches on the wall indicated that Mrs. Williamson put up a struggle before her nephew overpowered her and slashed her throat.

The police believe that the murder followed a quarrel over money. Mrs. Mahaney is said frequently to have obtained small amounts from Mrs. Williamson.

CHAMP MARBLE SHOOTER FACES DEFEAT BY GIRL

Philadelphia, Pa., May 20.—Nearly all of Young Philadelphia turned its eyes toward City Hall today to see "Red" Stoddard, local champion marble shooter, knuckle down against a classy field of youngsters from other cities.

"Red" faces the possible humiliation of being the champion's crown adorn the bobbed tresses of a girl from Newark, N. J., and he simply has "no use for women."

The grand marble-shooting contest will take place on City Hall plaza, and will be a feature of the last day of Boys' week.

"Red" will knuckle down in the concentric rings with champions from New York, Baltimore, Camden, Bryn Mawr and other nearby places. The winner will receive a handsome cup.

When the mayor of Newark appealed for a lad to step forth to defend his city's name in marble-shooting circles, not a boy volunteered. Marguerite Ruth, who is reputed to flick a wicked agate with the best shooters in her neighborhood, stepped up and volunteered for the contest.
